IGFRI-CCSHAU collaborative Online workshop on "Fodder Resources Development Plan for Haryana on 26th Aug. 2022"

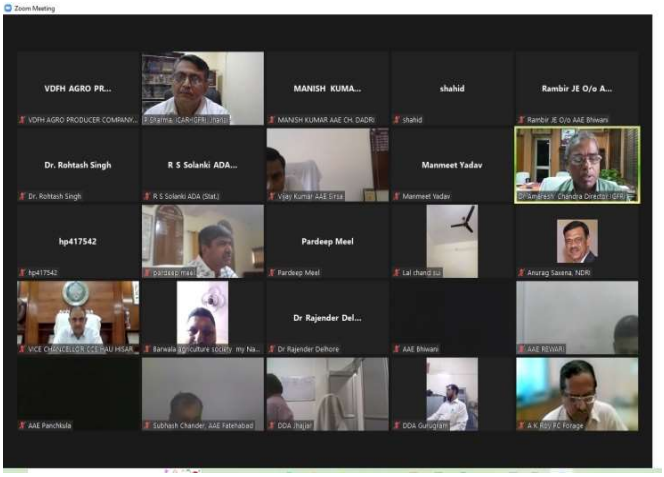
The ICAR-Indian Grassland and Fodder Research Institute, Jhansi, Uttar Pradesh in association with the CCSHAU, Hisar, Haryana organized the web shop on "Fodder Resources Development Plan for Haryana" on 26th Aug 2022. This is part of "National Initiative on Accelerating Fodder Technology Adoption NIAFTA" of the Institute. The objective is to disseminate the ongoing research related to the fodder technologies, and to develop fodder resource development plan for Haryana. About 134 participants from Department of Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Agriculture, , KVKs, CCSHAU, Lala Lajpat Rai University of Veterinary and Animal Sciences (LUVAS), Hisar, NDRI and IGFRI participated. To begin with Dr. Purushottam Sharma, NO, NIAFTA, welcomed the guests and briefed about the initiative of institute

Dr. Amaresh Chandra, Director, ICAR-IGFRI, Jhansi highlighting the important research activities carried out by the Institute with particular reference to the agro-climate of Haryana.

Prof. B.R. Kamboj, Honorable Vice Chancellor, CCS HAU, Hisar, in his inaugural address welcomed the initiative and provided various useful suggestions for disseminating fodder technologies developed by the university and IGFRI.

Officers of Agriculture and Animal Husbandry & Dairying, Haryana, LUVAS, scientists of ICAR institutes provided useful suggestion to be incorporated in fodder plan.

Dr. A.K Roy, PC AICRP-FCU, IGFRI, Jhansi presented draft "Fodder Resources Development Plan of Haryana State" which was discussed.



Dr. Y Jindal, Assistant Scientist, CCSHAU Hisar, highlighted improved fodder technologies suitable for Haryana State developed by CCSHAU and AICRP (FCU).

The participants interacted and provided valuable suggestions which will be incorporated in fodder plan. Meeting ended with vote of thanks by Dr. Y Jindal, CCSHAU Hisar.

(Source: ICAR-Indian Grassland and Fodder Research Institute, Jhansi, Uttar Pradesh)